

Mme. Claussen to Sing To-night in the Stadium

Programmes of the First Full
Week of the Open Air Concerts.

The programmes prepared for the first full week of the summer night concerts in the City College Stadium at Amsterdam Avenue and 137th Street, will satisfy every sort of musical taste. To-night Mme. Julia Claussen will be the soloist. She will sing an aria from "Samson and Delilah" and the Love Death from "Trianon and Isidore." The orchestral numbers will be the Coronation March from "The Prophet," a suite from "Carmen," the Finlandia of Sibelius, one of the ballet suites of Debussy and some selections from Tchaikovsky and Mendelssohn. To-morrow night Rafael Diaz will be the soloist. There will be a popular touch to the programme, with Victor Herbert and a new piece by Busch included. Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" will open Tuesday night's concert, which will be without soloist. The overture from "Tannhauser" will close the concert, with Saint-Saens' "Rachmaninoff" and Puccini represented in the body of the programme.

On Wednesday night Elias Breeskin, violinist, will be the soloist. He will play Bruch's concerto in G minor. Chadwick and Hadley will be represented in the orchestra offerings. Bizet's "L'Arlesienne" suite No. 1 also will be played. An all Wagner programme will be given Thursday night. Tchaikovsky's fourth symphony will be the chief offering on Friday, preceded by Goldmark's "Sakuntala" overture. Another composition by Henry Hadley will be heard Friday night. Lighter selections from among the classics will form the programme for Saturday night's concert. Tchaikovsky's Nut Cracker suite and Rimsky-Korsakov's Capriccio Espagnol will be included. Two new compositions by Paul Lannin also will be heard. One of the audition soloists, selected from among 300 candidates, may also be heard during the week.

The neighborhood orchestra of the American Orchestral Society will enter upon its third week of evening outdoor concerts under Jacques L. Gottlieb with a symphonic programme Tuesday evening on the roof of the Neighborhood Playhouse, 466 Grand Street. The concert will be given in cooperation with the Henry Street Settlement. The orchestra will play Thursday evening in Washington Square Park. In case of rain it will be held in the auditorium of the Greenwich House Settlement, 29 Barrow Street.

The noon hour concerts of the American Orchestral Society are continuing in popularity. Concerts will be given Tuesday in Battery Park and Thursday in Madison Square Park.

Skinner in Spain Getting Little Rest

If Otis Skinner comes back home all tucked out, Elmo Deagan will be to blame. The American actor will play next season in "Blood and Sand," by Tom Cushing, founded on the novel of the same title by Ibanez. As soon as he is free in "At the Villa Rose" in May, he is called for Spain to visit the novelist and get some pointers first hand on how a real champion bullfighter ought to act, for that is the role he will play.

Evidently Ibanez gave the actor a regular old home week reception, for Mr. Skinner writes that he hasn't had a chance to do any resting since he's been there. He has been working hard, showing him all the sights of Madrid that he knew anything about—and Mr. Skinner says they were quite a few—the United States Ambassador, Joseph E. William, took him in tow.

Of course Mr. Skinner saw a bull fight. But he says he hasn't had the courage to tackle the theatres. It's so hot that they don't begin the performance until ten o'clock and only the very lightest sort of plays are on view. No one over there, Mr. Skinner says, thinks of eating dinner until nine and some times that is a little later.

Besides Madrid he has visited San Sebastian, Seville and Granada and they are all hot but worth seeing. He has picked up a lot of costumes and properties of various kinds. All the things that will be used in the production of the new play, with which Charles Frohman, Inc., announce to open the Empire September 20, after Mr. Skinner has played it for a couple of weeks out of town.

Music Programmes In Film Theatres

Manager Joseph Plunkett of the Strand Theatre after the overture to "Cabiria" which he prepared for the programme last week did not again attempt anything in the nature of an original composition so soon. He wishes to allow his talent for composition to rest a while in order that there may be no signs of exhaustion. But he did not have time to arrange a "vocal prologue," which will be sung this week by the quartet. The orchestra, under the direction of Carl Edwards, will play the overture to "The Fortune Teller." Miss Little Howell will sing the "Butterfly" from Victor Herbert's "Babette."

A special film dance music number will take the place of the usual overture at the Rivoli. The film part will be a scene called "The Soul of the Cypress," a bit of photography made by Dudley Murphy, son of the painter. The dancer in the picture is Chase Herenden, who is appearing in "The Last Waltz." A special musical accompaniment, prepared by Hugo Riesenfeld, will be played from the screen living dancers will appear to react in person the scenes suggested in the picture. Miss Grace Hoffman, soprano, will sing Stern's "Prin-temps." The organ solo, played by Prof. F. W. Swann, will be "Chant Seraphique," by Henri Bonte.

The programme which S. L. Rothafel presents at the Capitol opens in celebration of Bastille Day. The orchestra, under Erno Raabe, will play the "Maximilian Robespierre Overture," by Henry Litoff, which closes with a tableau of the period, showing the historic Bastille in the background and a mob surrounding the guillotine. "Tuneful Memories," a musical melange, includes the "Boon Song" by the entire ensemble, "Love's Old Sweet Song," sung by Erik Bye and the quartet; "Swing Along," by Carle Jacobs Bond, sung by the quartet, and "You'll Remember Me," sung by Carle Jacobs Bond. The ballet number will be a duet by Mlle. Gambarelli and Alexander Oumansky dated to Drida's "Bou-vent." Miss Alys Michot, soprano, has been added to this list of soloists.

Will Rogers, Thomas Meighan and Lewis Stone in New Film Roles.

James Oliver Curwood's story, "The Golden Snare," will be presented on the screen at the Strand Theatre this week. It was directed by David M. Hartford and supervised by Mr. Curwood. It tells a story of adventure, mystery and romance in the Arctic barrens built around the search of a member of the Northwest Mounted Police for a madman of the Canadian Rockies. Lewis Stone is the featured player. Miss Ruth Renick has the feminine lead. Other well known players are Wallace Beery, Melbourne MacDowell, Francis MacDonald, Esther Scott and Wellington Player.

"A Game Lady," a new Lehman comedy, is booked, while back to nature entertainment may be found in "Jogging the Sawtooth," a new Outing Chester comic. The Topical Review is also a part of the film diversification.

Thomas Meighan and both Tarkington will hold the interest on the screen of the Rivoli in "The Conquest of Canaan." The Paramount star appears in the role of Joe Louden in the film version of the Hoosier novelist's story. "The Conquest of Canaan" was directed by R. William Neill and the scenario, written by Frank Wright Tuttle, was read and approved by the author before production. Miss Doris Kenyon plays the part of Ariel Tobor, the village tomboy, and others in the cast are Misses Diana Allen, Ann Eggleston, Alice Fleming, Jed Prouty, Cyril Ring and Riley Hatch.

Meighan, as Joe, is a politician and social outcast, his only friend being Ariel, herself considered one of the irreclaimables. The girl, suddenly finding herself rich, sails for Europe with the last words to Joe to "make good" in spite of the scowls of the so-called respectable element of the town, a bit of advice which encourages the luckless youth to strive. He wins some success as a lawyer, but unhappily is always defending members of the political ring. A murder case which Joe is called on to defend brings a startling series of revelations which confound the leading lights of the town and turn the tide in favor of the young lawyer. A comedy and the Rivoli Pictorial will complete the film programme.

At the Rivoli.
Rex Ingram's "The Conquering Power," the second notable screen production by the creator of "The Four Horsemen," will be the principal attraction at the Rivoli after a week's highly successful engagement at the Rivoli.

Tony Sarg's Almanac depicting the first "Tooth Carpenter" and the Magazine which closes with a tableau of the period, showing the historic Bastille in the background and a mob surrounding the guillotine. "Tuneful Memories," a musical melange, includes the "Boon Song" by the entire ensemble, "Love's Old Sweet Song," sung by Erik Bye and the quartet; "Swing Along," by Carle Jacobs Bond, sung by the quartet, and "You'll Remember Me," sung by Carle Jacobs Bond. The ballet number will be a duet by Mlle. Gambarelli and Alexander Oumansky dated to Drida's "Bou-vent." Miss Alys Michot, soprano, has been added to this list of soloists.

At the Capitol.
When Will Rogers comes to the Capitol Theatre today in his latest Goldwyn picture, "An Unwilling Hero," another famous story by O. Henry will reach the screen. The original title of this story was "Whistling Dick's Christmas Stocking," and the leading character is a type which Mr. Rogers has impersonated with success in "Jubilo" and "Honest Hutch." The picture was directed by Clarence Badger.

"Edgar's Feast Day," the newest Goldwyn-Booth Tarkington comedy, with little Johnny Jones in a new series of youthful and exciting adventures, an interesting scenic study of Scotland called "The Bonnie Briar Country," produced by Educational Pictures Corporation, and the Capitol News complete the film programme.

At the Astor.
Progression in the photoplays is well marked at the Astor, where the Goldwyn picture, "The Old Nest," is completing its second week. Three actresses play the role of Emily, starting with Marie Moorhouse as the baby, Billie Cotton as the twelve-year-old girl and finally Helene Chadwick as the young lady who figures in a lively romance a la Pullman car. The time element represented in the Rupert Hughes story—covering twenty-four years—necessitates two complete sets of principal players and in some cases three are called upon to lighten the illusion.

Other popular films that continue are "The Golem" at the Criterion, with its special musical programme; "Over the Hill" at the Park; "The Queen of Sheba" at the Lyric; "The Connecticut Yankee" at the Central and at the Hippodrome; "Tradition" and "The Twice Born Woman."

At the Loew Theatres.
Peter V. Kyrle's story, "The Ten Dollar Raise," with Miss Marguerite Delamotte, Miss Helen Jerome Edger, William V. Mong and Pat O'Malley will be a screen attraction at Loew's American and Music Hall on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Features at Loew's New York Theatre and roof will include Miss Clara Kimball Young in "Straight from Paris," today and to-morrow, "A Kiss in Time," with Miss Wanda Hawley, Tuesday; "Lessons in Love," with Miss Constance Talmadge, Wednesday; "The Broken Doll," with Monte Blue, Thursday; "Coincidence," with Robert Harron, and "Children of the Night," with William Russell, Friday; "Roads of Destiny," with Miss Pauline Frederick, Saturday; and "A Wise Fool," with James Kirkwood, Sunday.

ROSEMARY THEATRE PLAYS.
The National Theatrical Committee of Near East Relief, of which Mr. John Drew is chairman, announce two special performances August 5 and 6 in the Rosemary Outdoor Theatre at Huntington, L. I., the use of which has been given by the owner, Mr. Roland R. Conklin. The first act of Rosemary's "Rosemary" and the last act of Stephen Phillips' "Herod," with an all star cast, and two Shakespearean scenes will be given.

Among those who have promised to appear are William Faversham, Lionel Atwill, Miss Elsie Mackay, Miss Olive Wyndham and Miss Carroll McComas.
